A floor plan diagram showing a large open area on the left, a loft area on the right, and a staircase in the center. The open area is labeled "Open To Below". The loft area is labeled "Loft". The staircase is labeled "Up" and has an arrow pointing upwards. The staircase is located between the open area and the loft. The loft area is separated from the open area by a wall. The staircase is located on a platform that is lower than the loft floor. The open area is also lower than the loft floor. The diagram shows the spatial relationship between these three areas.
